

Description

Bank.java is the main entry point for the bank program. Bank is only run once and acts as a server for incoming connections. Account is used for both agents and auction houses. GUI waits to be updated and always has the most current info displayed. Message are used by all three parts of the project but each has different responses. AgentInfo and AuctionInfo is used for keeping track of things important to establish socket connect like ports, server names, ID's etc.
